

Embracing the Etheric, Preparing for Christ

A workshop with Gordon Woolard

Experience this, how the point becomes a sphere and yet remains itself.
If you have laid hold of how the infinite sphere is nevertheless only point, then come to this afresh, for then it comes about for thee that the infinite in the finite shines.

Rudolf Steiner 1903

We live in a time when human beings can encounter Christ in the etheric world. How can we embrace the etheric in a way belonging to this age, an age asking for our wakeful presence, challenging us to deepen our observation and thought? Through experiences of the after-image and through movement and drawing suitable for all, projective geometry enables us to read the forms of life. Along the way new objects to observe come to light, leading us consciously into the etheric.
